RE: Hurricane/Tropical Storm Harvey

As you are no doubt aware, much of southern Texas, and particularly Houston, have been subjected to strong winds and record-setting rainfalls associated with Hurricane/Tropical Storm Harvey.

We deeply appreciate the many expressions of concern so many of you have sent us.

We wanted to let you all know that:

- Our Houston-based headquarters employees are all safe.
- Our communications are still functioning as a result of the back office functionality we have built into our global office network system.
- Current forecasts call for several more days of heavy rain as the storm stalls over this area. As a result, area flood conditions are expected to worsen before they get better. The ability of UTC staff to commute to and from our offices will be limited or non-existent for at least the immediate future.

We urge you to maintain your contacts with key UTC staff via e-mail and, where necessary and possible, cell phone.

If for any reason you are unable to reach members of your UTC team for any critical matters, please contact me directly at +1 (646) 235-0384 (cell) or Jaynette Kettler at +1 (832) 566-2149.

We have an amazing team and ready to overcome the challenges. I thank them especially for their work ethic and relentless dedication.

We will issue further advisories as more information becomes available. Thanks again to each of you for your continuing concern and support.
